

Reflection Card

Intention Bracelet Making Kit

What is My Intention?

What makes my intention so important to me?

How will it feel to fulfill this intention?

What will be different in my life once I obtain this intention?

What are some possible barriers which I may encounter?

What are some ways in which I will overcome them?

What is something I can say to myself when I start to feel disconnected from my intention?

What else there for me?

Your choice to delve into bracelet making is a celebration of your unique self. Jill and I are genuinely excited for the artistic journey you're embarking on. Each bead and every delicate weave will be a testament to what is most important to you. Embrace the artistry, savor the process, and let the beauty of your bracelets reflect joy and fulfillment. We're cheering you on as you transform threads and beads into wearable intention.

Enjoy your creative experience!